Police officer Lindsay Adcock quietly sat in the audience during the morning session of the Valley View School District 365U School Safety Conference without any of the more than 200 school and public safety officials from throughout the state knowing she was packing eight different kinds of (fake) weapons under her clothing. The exercise was designed to demonstrate how easy it is for a student to sneak a weapon into school. Photo 1 is Lindsay sitting in the audience. The remaining photos are as she is unloaded her weapons in front of the audience.
